2017 Membership

Interested Fish Farmers and Aquaculturalists

The USTFA was organized in 1954 by a group of trout farmers interested in creating a strong, unified voice for the national trout industry. It has grown steadily ever since and now has members in nearly every state and some foreign countries. The USTFA is recognized representing our membership actively working with other agriculture and aquaculture organizations in providing pro-trout information to Congress as well as Federal and State Agencies. USTFA strives to provide forums for discussion of important current issues with government decision makers while providing new technology and research results to our membership.

You can join this dynamic organization at a level which defines your involvement in the trout farming industry.
